

EVANGELIST SURE OF DEVIL'S DEFEAT

Mrs. McPherson Foresees Victory As Hearing Lags

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29 (By U. P.).—Aimee Semple McPherson was in joyous mood today as she faced the third day of her preliminary hearing on charges of conspiracy to defeat justice.

"They have called on the carpenter, the grocer, the laundry-man and the messenger boy to identify me as the woman who occupied that horrid cottage at Carmel — but their plans have failed," she said today. "I expect they will subpoena the ice-man and the milkman next."

The evangelist was referring to yesterday's session of court, when none of six state witnesses was able to identify her definitely as the woman who occupied a bungalow at Carmel-by-the-Sea last May with Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio man at Angelus Temple.

"The devil is finding his persecution a difficult task," Mrs. McPherson continued. "The state's testimony, thus far has been nothing short of silly."

The evangelist was greeted with a chorus of "amens" and "hallelujahs," when she mounted her rostrum at Angelus Temple last night and addressed her congregation.

"It was a 100 per cent. day for us in court," she told followers.

The evangelist added, however, that "there may come days when things do not appear so favorable," and pleaded with her following to "keep believing" in her and to "pray for her daily."

Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff, co-defendant and chief state witness, was ready when court opened to take the stand today.

She is the woman who caused the arrest of Mrs. McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, when she "confessed" she was hired by the evangelist to produce a "Miss X" who would declare it was she, and not the evangelist, who shared the Carmel cottage with Ormiston.

Racket of Tin Cans On Bridal Autos Gets His Goat

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (By U. P.).—Frank S. Hight, prominent hotel man, asked the city fathers to stop the practice of allowing bells, ribbons, and tin cans on bridal autos.

The city, he argued, is noisy enough without them.

Suit for $105,000 Over Tabloid Won By Frelinghuysen

Ex-Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey has been held to be under no obligation to the defunct Press Publishing Company as the result of the trial of an action for $105,000 in the Court of Chancery in Newark. Chancellor Backes said that there might be ground for recovery of damages from Mr. Frelinghuysen by Joseph J. Fiske, who promoted the company. But the company itself had no grounds, he declared.

The action was brought by John A. Bernhard, receiver for the company. Testimony by Mr. Fiske was to the effect that Mr. Frelinghuysen had promised to finance the publication of the Press, a tabloid newspaper, in Newark, but withdrew when his demand for 51 per cent. of the stock was refused.

MOTHER JAILED TRYING TO END SON'S WEDDED WOE

An attempt to take a hand in the marital troubles of her son, Rocko, landed Mrs. Marie Ventra, 48,6910 15th Ave., Brooklyn, in jail today on a charge of grand larceny. On Monday Rocko married Miss Bessie Ventra, 15,7504 13th Ave., his cousin, and next day returned home to tell his mother of trouble with his bride. Angered, Mrs. Ventra went to her niece's home and took from her jewelry valued at $1,885, which she alleges her son had given the bride.

MONEY PRESS CON MAN GETS FARMER'S $1,800

RIVERHEAD, L. I., Sept. 29.—Michael Navelenski, a Polish farmer of Middle Road, near here, was robbed of $1,800 last Saturday, Sheriff Burton G. Howe of Suffolk county was notified today, because he believed that it would be doubled by a magic money press, carried by a stranger, who drove up to Navelenski's home. The man got Navelenski's "roll" and decamped.

CHARGE STOCK SWINDLE

Charged with collecting $1,800 from Helen Worden, 25, 141 East 52d St., a saleswoman for steel stock, and failing to give her the stock, Irving Label, 26, 2572 DeKalb Ave. Brooklyn, today was held in $2,500 bail in Tombs Court.
